A Brief History of Immigration in Wisconsin

Presented to Western Wisconsin Rural Immigration Summit
September 25, 2007

David Long & Dan Veroff
e-mail: ddlong@wisc.edu
Applied Population Lab
University of Wisconsin- Madison
Things to Keep in Mind

- Immigration is not a new story: 150+ years
- Immigrants were a BIG part of the State population growth
- Regionalism within Immigration History: North and Western Europe, Southern and Eastern Europe, and finally Asia and Latin America
- Push-Pull Factors and Chain migration
- Shifting policies and attitudes toward immigration: Recruitment VS Restrictions
- Tensions surrounding “assimilation” and “Americanization”
- Changing economies and related opportunities
Wisconsin’s Foreign and “Native” Born Population

U.S. Born

Foreign Born
Foreign Born Persons as a Percent of the Total Population, Wisconsin and U.S.: 1880 to 2000

Source: U.S. Census Bureau, Decennial Census of Population, 1880 to 2000
Wisconsin's Foreign Born Population: 1850 to 2000

31% before the turn of the century
21% just before WWI
WWI, Depression and WWII: decline in immigration
3.6% in 2000 Census
Increase in immigration from Asia and Mexico

36% around the time of statehood
A Timeline

- Earliest residents were prehistoric Native Americans
- Pre-Statehood
  - Explorers, missionaries, fur traders: 1634 – mid 1850s
  - Pioneers, homesteaders, farmers 1830s-1850s
- Statehood and beyond
  - 50 year period of population growth fueled significantly by immigration (1850 – 1900) mostly from Northern and Western Europe
  - Early 20th Century, immigration from Europe slowed significantly and shifted to people coming from Southern and Eastern Europe
  - Second half of 20th, new immigrant origins represented (Asia, Latin America)
Immigration to Wisconsin

- Pioneers & Homesteaders: 1st waves of immigrants from Europe (Irish, English, Norwegian, Swiss, Dutch, German)
- 1800s: Start of major German immigration to state
- By 1850: 44,000 Norwegians in state
- 1860: Swedes start coming to Wisconsin
- 1880: By 1880, 44,000 Norwegians in state
- 1900: Large numbers of Poles start coming to Wisconsin
- 1920: Italians come to state, mostly to cities in SE Wisconsin
- WWI: War and prewar policies curtail immigration
- WWII and Depression: Limit and constrain immigration
- 1940: Displaced Persons Act - spurs some immigration
- 1960: Mexican migrant workers come to Wisconsin in large numbers
- 1980: Hmong refugees first come to Wisconsin
- 2000: Large numbers of Latinos start immigrating to state
- 2010: Mexican migrant workers come to Wisconsin in large numbers

- 1850-1900: Large numbers of Poles start coming to Wisconsin
- 1900-1920: Italians come to state, mostly to cities in SE Wisconsin
- 1920-1940: WWI and Depression limit and constrain immigration
- 1940-1960: Displaced Persons Act - spurs some immigration
- 1960-2000: Mexican migrant workers come to Wisconsin in large numbers
- 2000-2010: Latin migration to state
Immigration Push Factors

- Poverty
- Population pressure & Displacement
- Political oppression or instability
- Religious intolerance or persecution

Immigration Pull Factors

- Land and farming opportunities
- Employment opportunities
- Education
- Family Unification

Chain migration: Social or familial networks established between sending countries and Wisconsin
Varied Policies on Immigration

- Wisconsin Office of Emigration (1852-1855)
- Bennet Law in late 1880’s
- World War I: Anti-German sentiment and the Espionage Act
- Guest Worker Programs, Displaced Persons Act, Family Reunification…
Why Wisconsin?

An Old Wisconsin Emigrant Song:
Since times are so hard, I've thought, my true heart,
Of leaving my oxen, my plough and my cart,
And away to Wisconsin, a journey we'd go to double our fortune as other folks do,
While here I must labor each day in the field,
And the winter consumes all the summer doth yield.
Geographic Legacies: Norwegian Ancestry

First settlements in 1838, by 1850s large communities in Rock, Waukesha, and Jefferson County. Then, because of employment in farming, movement to wheat frontier of Western Wisconsin (Crawford north to Barron).
Geographic Legacies: Polish Ancestry

Came in large numbers in 1870s and 1880s. Many settled in Milwaukee County for employment in manufacturing but also in rural areas and farm districts, most notably in Portage County.
Geographic Legacies: Swiss Ancestry

Most came before 1870. Green County was largest center of Swiss farming in United States and became known as Swissconsin.
Main period of immigration was 1860s to 1900. Many arrived after best farmland already taken so turned to farming and lumbering in northern half of the state. Also employed in construction of bridges, highways and railroads. Distinct pattern of settlement in NW Wisconsin counties.
Latinos in Wisconsin Today

Mexican immigrants and migrants in Wisconsin since 1910

Small permanent numbers through 1950s and 60s but many came as migrant or seasonal workers
- In early 1950’s estimated that 12,000 migrant workers came each summer to work in Wisconsin

- Latino communities formed in cities and became linkages for subsequent migration
Hmong In Wisconsin Today

- Came to Wisconsin as refugees
- Hmong started to arrive in late 1970’s
- Wisconsin has 3rd largest Hmong population in the United States
- Resettled in about 10 cities in Wisconsin
Thank you!

David Long & Dan Veroff
e-mail: ddlong@wisc.edu
dlveroff@facstaff.wisc.edu
Applied Population Lab
University of Wisconsin- Madison